

Venn* Diagram of the Various Disciplines/Subdisciplines of Chemistry

* percentage overlaps are estimates

 Physical Chemistry and Analytical Chemistry are tools used to characterize compounds and materials and reactions, they can be used on either inorganic or organic compounds with various degrees of efficiency

biochemistry would bridge inorganic and organic, encompassing the bioinorganic bubble, most of the coordination bubble, but weighing heavily in the organic side of the diagram